Description

2012 NEPTUNUS 62 FLYBRIDGE

SLEEPS UP TO 6 3 STATEROOMS, 3 HEADS

This 2012 62' Neptunus Flybridge Motor Yacht is an exceptional example of what can be done in a custom yacht build. With the twin IPS 700 pod drives by Volvo Penta, this is the perfect owner/operator type vessel with good visibility inside and out; upper, lower, and wing helm stations with joystick steering. Highlights on this vessel include exterior quartz countertops, a walk-in engine room access, teak on the flybridge and cockpit, and a unique workspace and head in the lazarette forward of the engine room. A full-size galley with a standup fridge, dishwasher, four-burner cooktop, and convection oven makes for a very functional galley. She was exclusively a freshwater boat from 2014 until July 2021!

Vessel Walkthrough

Boarding at the fixed transom, you will see a large watertight door in the center for stand-up engine room access. When walking into the engine room, you will see almost 6' of headroom and a watertight door all the way forward. In the forward lazarette, there is waterproof flooring, ample storage, a rinse-down shower, head, and sink perfect for use as a gear locker for diving or other water activities. Teak grates across the transom are accented by stainless steel handrails. Steps to port and starboard allow you to step up into the large cockpit. There is an outdoor galley with seating for four to six at the cockpit table. On either side of the curved salon doorway are steps leading up to the bow, with a molded fiberglass stairwell inset to starboard for bridge access. The flybridge is a perfect entertaining space whether at anchor or underway. A single Pompanette helm chair is flanked by seating for four behind an eisenglass windshield. Forward of that is a large sun pad. Moving aft, wrap-around seating with a large table sits to starboard, and a wet bar with fridge, icemaker and lounge area make up the aft end. In the cockpit, the curved sliding entry door is complemented by a sliding screen for the cooler evenings. Upon stepping into the salon, the large tile flooring has sofa seating to port and starboard with a high gloss two-tone wood table between them. Moving forward, the galley sits opposite the dinette on a half-raised deck. The galley is full size and extremely functional. The dinette has a flip-up high gloss table in front of an L-shaped sofa. The lower helm has an independent helm seat with guest seating for two to starboard. To port, a carpeted spiral staircase leads down to the living quarters. At the base of the stairs, you can turn left to walk forward to access the two guest staterooms, one of the two guest heads, and the separate washer and dryer units. If you turn right and head aft, you will pass the second guest head, and the access to the full beam, mid-ship master stateroom with ensuite head.
